The National Academy of Public Administration Public Health Working Group Webinar on Workforce Capacity Challenges

Webinar ■ Posted on 4/18/2025

Join us for the second of three webinars focusing on public health in times of crisis and disaster. In this session, we discuss issues that limit our systems' responsiveness to natural hazards, extreme events, and health crises. How do we develop better-integrated systems, considering workforce capacity challenges and the intersection of adaptive multi-sector systems, people skills, and technology?

Event Date:
April 28, 2025

Teaching Public Administration | Symposium on the Future of Public Administration Education

Call for Papers ■ Posted on 4/11/2025

Teaching Public Administration invites proposals for a symposium on the future of public administration education. The environment in which we teach and train new generations of public servants is also experiencing a dramatic upheaval. The symposium seeks to answer the question: How do we move forward as a discipline? Guest Editors: Bruce McDonald and William Hatcher. Questions regarding the symposium and the submission process can be directed to the symposium editors at bmcdonal@odu.edu and WIHATCHER@augusta.edu.

Deadline:
September 1, 2025

Elgar Encyclopedia of Research Methods in Public Administration Call for Contributions

Call for Contributions ■ Posted on 3/28/2025

For the Encyclopaedia of Research Methods in Public Administration, to be published by Edward Elgar in 2027, we are looking for contributions on a large range of research methods. Each contribution will explain the ins and outs of a specific method, illustrated by an example from your own research practice. Qualitative and quantitative methods, or the mix thereof, are welcome, ranging from A (e.g., action research) to Z (e.g., zooming in/out) and everything in between.

Are you well-versed in a specific method? And would you like to share that experience by writing a contribution (4,000 words, deadline early 2026)? Then please contact the editor: Professor Dr. Sandra van Thiel, Erasmus University Rotterdam (vanthiel@essb.eur.nl)

Asia Pacific Journal of Public Administration | Articles collection on Public Service Motivation

Journal ■ Posted on 3/21/2025

The Asia Pacific Journal of Public Administration maintains a special collection of articles on Public Service Motivation that examine various questions regarding public service motivation in the public sector. The article collection has two goals. The first is to advance theoretical and practical perspectives on public service motivation across regions. The second goal is strengthening contributions about non-Western scholarships by leveraging contextual and regional distinctions.
