Dear ##[Name | First]## ##[Name | Last]##,

Progress in this field rarely comes from a single breakthrough. It comes from steady work. Papers revised. Reviews completed. Ideas tested and refined over time.

Thank you for the consistency and rigor you bring to your research and to this community. Below are this week's updates, opportunities, and announcements.

Together in research,

Call for Papers | International Workshop on Administrative Burdens and Inequality in the Americas

Call for Papers  Posted on 3/3/2026

The Workshop on Administrative Burdens and Inequality in the Americas will convene scholars from North, Central, and South America and the Caribbean to examine how administrative burdens shape inequality in policy implementation and public service delivery.

The workshop will be held at El Colegio de México, Mexico City, October 28-30, 2026, with about 25 early-career and senior participants. All attendees will present full papers eligible for a special issue.

Thanks to support from Harvard's Bloomberg Center for Cities, The People Lab, PMRA, and the Better Government Lab, lodging and limited airfare support (up to $600) will be available. The working language is English; optional social activities encourage networking among us.

Deadline:
March 20, 2026

Call for Papers | Public Budgeting & Finance Symposium on U.S. State and Local Public Finance

Call for Papers  Posted on 2/20/2026

Public Budgeting & Finance invites scholars and practitioners to contribute to a symposium examining major developments in U.S. state and local public finance during the first quarter of the 21st century. Manuscripts should identify critical events, policies, theories, or practices from this period and aim to serve as “required reading” or a touchstone contribution on the subject. Prospective authors should submit proposals (up to 2,500 words) outlining the topic, its significance, and how the article will meet the symposium’s objectives.

Deadline:
April 1, 2026

Call for Papers | Special Issue on Accounting for What Matters

Call for Papers  Posted on 10/3/2025

Public sector organizations are navigating economic instability, climate crises, inequities, and political pressures—often forced to balance financial sustainability with the equally vital goals of social sustainability and equity. This special issue invites research that rethinks public sector accounting and accountability not only as tools for fiscal management but also as frameworks that foster inclusion, fairness, resilience, and long-term public value.

We welcome conceptual, empirical, and comparative studies addressing how accounting can better embed social sustainability, manage value trade-offs, strengthen organizational resilience, and challenge existing power dynamics. Case studies, longitudinal analyses, and critical perspectives across diverse contexts (healthcare, education, social services, etc.) are encouraged.

Deadline:
June 30, 2026

Call for Papers | JBPA on Null Results

Call for Papers  Posted on 9/12/2025

The Journal of Behavioral Public Administration (JBPA) seeks papers for a special issue on null results. Null results are important for scientific progress and for policy making. But null results require nuanced consideration to be informative—null results caused by a small sample size or measurement error may hide true (non-zero and substantively meaningful) effects. JBPA welcomes null results Public Administration papers, especially those utilizing pre-hoc power analysis, pre-registration, experimental manipulation checks, Bayesian t-tests/Bayes factors, TOST procedures or simulated confidence intervals to rule out large effect, and other nuanced and convincing methods. Full research papers will be evaluated on an ongoing basis.

Deadline:
July 31, 2026
