Call for Applications | Editors of PPMG

PMRA  Posted on 7/19/2026

The Public Management Research Association is accepting applications for the next editorial team of Perspectives on Public Management and Governance (PPMG).

The new editors will assume responsibility on July 1, 2027, for a five-year term.

PMRA welcomes applications from individual editors or editorial teams with strong publication records, editorial experience, and a clear vision for advancing the journal's focus on theory development and conceptual scholarship in public management and governance. Applications must include a cover letter and institutional vision, CVs, a proposed editorial team structure, and a letter of institutional support.

Questions may be directed to Dominic Bearfield at, dbearfield@email.gwu.edu.

Application Deadline: September 1, 2026

Call for Interest | Affinity Group in Utility Policy & Management

PMRA  Posted on 7/3/2026

Interested in Joining PMRA's First Affinity Group?

We are excited to announce the development of PMRA's very first affinity group: the Utility Policy & Management Community. This multi-institutional, member-led initiative is designed to bridge the gaps between public management research and practical utility governance (covering electricity, water, broadband, gas, and more).

If you are a PMRA member in good standing and are interested in helping shape this new community through research coordination, practitioner outreach, or educational development, please reach out to S. Mohsen Fatemi at mohsenfatemi@ku.edu to express your interest and get involved.

Call for Proposals | Host the Prestigious PMRC 2028

PMRA  Updated on 6/26/2026

PMRA is now accepting proposals from U.S. institutions interested in hosting the 2028 Public Management Research Conference.

PMRC is the premier gathering of public management scholars and practitioners, bringing together researchers, educators, students, and public sector professionals from around the world. Recent conferences have welcomed more than 450 registrants, with approximately 30–35 percent of attendees being PhD students.

Interested institutions should submit a proposal addressing conference logistics, facilities, budget, graduate student support, technology infrastructure, accessibility, and commitment to diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging.

Proposal Deadline: November 1, 2026

PMRA Governance | Board Approves Bylaws Amendment

PMRA  Posted on 8/7/2026

The PMRA Board has approved an amendment to the Association's Bylaws establishing a revised process for filling vacancies on the Board of Directors.

Under the amended language, the amount of time remaining before the next scheduled Board election will determine whether an interim appointment is required or may be made at the discretion of the Executive Committee. When an interim appointment is made, the individual will serve only until the next scheduled Board election or the end of the original term, whichever comes first.

The amendment also clarifies the nomination and approval process for interim Board members and confirms that temporary service will not count toward the appointee's term limit.

PMRA's published Bylaws are being updated to reflect the newly approved language.

PMRA Advocacy | Public Comment on Proposed OMB Rule

PMRA  Updated on 7/17/2026

This is a new Paragraph block. Change the text.

PMRA has submitted a public comment on behalf of the Association and its membership in response to the Office of Management and Budget's proposed rule, Regulation for Federal Financial Assistance (Docket No. OMB-2026-0034).

The proposed rule may have significant implications for federally supported research and public management scholarship. PMRA's comment outlines these concerns and explains how the proposed changes relate to the Association's mission and values. Read PMRA's Public Comment \(Linked Here\)

Journal Update | Journal of Public Administration Research and Theory

PMRA  Posted on 06/26/2026

The Journal of Public Administration Research and Theory (JPART) continues to demonstrate strong scholarly reach in the field of public administration. According to the newly released 2025 Journal Citation Reports data, JPART received a Journal Impact Factor of 7.4 and remains in Q1 in the Public Administration category.

PMRA shares this update with appreciation for the editors, authors, reviewers, and broader research community whose work supports the journal's continued impact. As always, journal metrics should be interpreted with care and understood as one indicator among many of scholarly contribution and field influence.

Journal Policy | JPART Submission Cap Pilot

PMRA  Posted on 06/26/2026

Beginning July 1, 2026, the Journal of Public Administration Research and Theory (JPART) will introduce a one-year pilot submission cap. The pilot is designed to protect the quality of the journal's editorial process and the capacity of voluntary peer reviewers at a time when submission volumes are increasing rapidly.

The cap applies to individual authors. Beginning in 2027, authors may submit no more than three manuscripts in total per calendar year and no more than two manuscripts that are desk rejected. For the remainder of 2026, JPART will use a transition rule allowing no more than four total submissions and no more than three desk-rejected submissions.

Effective Date: July 1, 2026

Special Issue | Global Public Policy and Governance

Special Issue  Posted on 8/14/2026

Global Public Policy and Governance is pleased to present a special issue, "Law, Democracy and Robots: Governing AI-Assisted Public Services in the Algorithmic Age," guest edited by Wonhyuk Cho, Ziteng Fan, and Yueping Zheng.

This collection features studies on AI governance in public administration, including public service delivery, street-level enforcement, budgeting decisions, regulatory sandboxes, knowledge production by tech firms, and scholarly attention to AI research.

Featuring contributions from scholars based in the US, the UK, China, Singapore, South Korea, New Zealand, Thailand, and beyond, the special issue sheds light on how AI intersects with public values, institutions, and bureaucratic decision-making.
